

KAIROS CHILDREN'S FUND

EDUCATE A CHILD – HELP ALLEVIATE POVERTY

Thanks to your very generous support, Kairos Children's Fund is able to sponsor many needy kids, and provide them with an education that will help their family get out of poverty. In the Philippines, as anywhere in the world, education is one of the greatest factors of poverty.

The families in the program are all poor, and often because none of their family members has good “professional” work. Many of them work in jobs that pay less than minimum wage, or simply do odd jobs around the neighborhood.

If a family member can graduate from high school and college, that family will have a much greater opportunity to prosper – and a smaller risk of being taken advantage of. Add good morals and character, and a sense of civic duty to their education, and a child will really go far in the world.

We cannot express our thankfulness for the role that you are playing in the lives of these students. (See our website for articles and stories)

SPONSORSHIP

You may choose to support a child's education today.

The school year in the Philippines is 10 months. School starts in July. There are always children and families waiting for a chance to join. Some of these children are already attending school; some are not. Of course, those not attending already are always given priority over those who are.

The amount you pay will be equivalent to the number of months left in the year.

You may choose to donate for the rice budget. At the end of the month, we will divide the money in this fund and give rice to the families of the children.

- The school year in the Philippines is 10 month. School starts in July. Since you can start sponsorship at any time (there are always children and families waiting) the amount you pay will be equivalent to the number of months left in the year.
 - Children are required to attend a local church for monitoring purposes. They are also expected to get good grades, though there is no minimum requirement to be continued in the program.
 - You will be given an info sheet about the child and may write letters, give birthday & Christmas gifts.
- ★ We will contact you via email and work with you on how you may send the money.
